[quip] Say what comes to you all that you know is your poems

I mean,

Say that which comes to me all the poems i've heard and read I must understand and appreciate and trust for those are what composes me, my just existence, and their integrity.

Nothing is to be hidden, because nothing is shameful shame is either on me or not on me I either love myself or I hate.
I choose to love.

To embrace is not to indulge,
I indulge no more than to unsay To embrace is to embark for life, the Odyssey also a farce
I don't have to be tragic all the time Heroes dance and drink, fooling around in the masquerade
The significant is salient, but indeed sparse and the rest of the lived sphere enjoy the coke and the fries, and the games and shows, the crap and the corny
May they be essentially uninteresting (yet funny)
If I am amused
let me giggle like a bunny.
